Alaska Pacific University
Anchorage, Alaska
February 10th – 14th, 2020

TECHNOLOGY SHOW AND TELL

We are looking for participants interested in sharing technology they have use for wildlife research, management, or monitoring! To complement our theme, Wildlife and Advancing Technologies, our poster session will include displays of technologies used in the wildlife field. Participants will have the opportunity to get hands-on experience or view demonstrations or hardware associated with these technologies. This could include information technology, sensors, equipment, or any tool used for research, data collection, or data processing. Our goal for this session is to show conference participants what type of technology is out there and give them inspiration for the future. If you have a technology that you would like to share, then please submit an abstract for consideration. Vendor booths are available for rent if you would like to sell your products, software, or business during the conference. Contact twsalaska@gmail.com with any questions or comments.
